SILVER DISCUSSION.

A Letter From Morton to Cheney of Denver.

"CAUSE" AND "EFFECT" MIXED

The Quantity of Coin Money Required to Do Business Steadily Decreasing.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Secretary Morton has written a letter to James A. Cherry of Denver in answer to a letter from that gentleman criticising some statements in the interview with the Secretary of Agriculture printed two weeks ago, which caused so much comment. It is as follows:

"From your letter of April 22, 1895, it appears you and I perfectly agree in the fundamental point, namely, demand and supply inexorably regulate all values whatsoever at all times and in all places. At what points do we begin to separate from each other and then go on to conclusions so utterly diverse? These points are only two—the first historical and the second logical.

"First, you assume certain propositions to be true of silver, which are not historically true at all, but quite the reverse of true. You say, for instance, 'until 1873 the chief use of silver was for coinage.' It had other uses, but the demand for its coinage purposes was steady and constant.

"On this point you have been monstrously misinformed. The first federal coins of silver were minted in 1794 and of gold in 1795. Their ratio was recommended by Alexander Hamilton and fixed by act of congress. It was 15 to 1. It was hoped thus to keep the two metals in equilibrio on the coinage. But they would not even come into equilibrio on the coinage. But they would not come into equilibrio on that ratio, still less would they stay there. Only 321 silver dollar pieces were coined at the American mints during the entire year of 1805, because the silver was worth more out of coinage than in it, and worth more for export than for domestic money. What was the matter with those silver dollars? Nothing, only they were too valuable. May 1, 1806, there came an order from President Jefferson to the director of the mint at Philadelphia, 'That all the silver to be coined at the mint shall be of small denominations, so the value of the largest pieces shall not exceed half a dollar.'

"The reason given by the President for this order was that considerable purchases have been made of dollars coined at the mint for the purpose of exporting them and that it is probable further purchases and exportations would be made.

"The coinage of silver dollars, thus authoritatively suspended at the American mint, was not resumed there for three years. In these few facts, which are official and unquestionable, behold the beauties and advantages of a double standard. The unlimited coinage of both metals in an enacted and constant ratio with each other.

"Of two yard sticks of different lengths to measure cloth by in the same market.

"By the law of 1834 the ratio was substantially put at 1 to 16. But this was going too far in the opposite direction. Gold was not worth 16 in silver in the markets of Europe. Consequently the international current of the metals was now for a time reversed, silver passing in preference abroad to liquidate the balances of trade and gold coming in small quantities to the United States where it was more than 3 per cent dearer in silver than in Europe. By 1853 the immense disadvantages of a double standard had become so plain to all the thinking people that congress was determined to abandon the utterly futile attempt to secure the parity of the two metals and to make gold the legal tender.

"In the second place Mr. Cherry, as an instance of an historical assumption contrary to the facts, and natural inference, allow me respectfully to call attention to the use, in common with many bimetallists, so called, of the date of 1873 as the time of the demonetization of silver. Unless I am mistaken the silver dollar is not at all one or the other, in the act of 1873. All the demonetization of silver, as I understand it, that ever came about in this country, happened in the law of 1853, after full discussion and practically with unanimity when congress introduced the subsidiary silver coinage, of which a nominal dollar's worth weighed 6.91 per cent less than the silver dollar, and also took away the legal tender quality of all silver in payment of debts of over $5 in amount.

"Second, you employ over and over again in your letter two most common logical fallacies that enter into the speech of argumentative men everywhere, namely, putting cause into the place of effect and assuming that, because one thing happened after another in point of time, therefore it was the result of that other.

"Let us look candidly together at the two or three instances of this taken at random. You ask, 'What created demand?' and answer, 'Use.' I ask, in my turn, 'What creates use?' and answer, 'Demand.'

"Why is it there is so little use of silver dollars in this country today, while there are millions upon millions of them lying idle?

"I answer confidently because there is no adequate demand for them. Have you not innocently but badly mixed up 'cause' and 'effect' in this case? Demand, in the commercial sense, is nothing but desire for something on the part of one man, coupled with his willingness to pay something for it satisfactory to the other who owns it.

"'Use' of that thing, no matter what it is, only follows the 'demand' for it. You have helplessly put the cart before the horse. What is the sense of clamoring still for 'unlimited coinage' when the treasury cannot get rid by hook or crook of those already coined and lying in useless heaps? They are well minted, of just weight, nine-tenths fine, are legal tender for all debts, and bear the legend, 'In God We Trust.' What ails them? I answer, and so must you, on reflection, there is no 'demand' for them, and therefore no 'use' for them.

"Mr. Eckles, the present comptroller of the currency, has made it probable by careful inquiry instituted through his department that about 50 per cent of the retail houses of this country are doing business by means of checks drawn on local banks and cleared by the banks with very little use of coins. The relative employment of these instruments of credit is constantly increasing through the multiplication of banks and otherwise, of course also the quantity of coin money required to do the business of the world or of any advanced currency in the world, is steadily decreasing relative to the business done."

J. J. Seymour has returned from a visit to San Francisco.

TROUBLE ANTICIPATED.

A Revolution Believed to be Pending in Ecuador.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The fact leaked out at the navy department today, after having been successfully hidden from the public for a week, that the United States steamer Ranger had been ordered from Buena Ventura, Colombia, on May 20, to Esmeralda, a port in northern Ecuador, where she probably has been for the last four days, the voyage being only about 350 miles in length. This order was issued at the request of the state department, where it was stated the request had been made because the department had been convinced by representations made by Americans having interests in Ecuador that it would be wise to do so. No further statement as to the nature of the trouble in Ecuador could be gathered at the state department, but from other sources it is learned that a revolution is believed to be impending in that country. Some American corporations have large interests in silver mines and other properties in Ecuador, and it was upon their representations that the state department acted, although it has no assurance that a revolution has actually broken out.

The Monterey at Panama.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The coast defense vessel Monterey arrived at Panama today from Acapulco, Mexico. Her original orders were to proceed to Callao, Peru, but these are now subject to consideration in view of the internal trouble in that country and the fact of the sending of the Alert to San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, left the isthmus unprotected, while the fact that the revolution in Colombia is still in progress will probably cause the navy department to detain the Monterey at Panama for a time.

San Francisco Dog Show.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Elaborate preparations are being made for the dog show, which opens tomorrow night at the Mechanics' pavilion. Hundreds of dogs from all parts of the Pacific coast have been entered for competition, and the show promises to be the most successful ever held in San Francisco. A great deal of attention has been devoted to sanitary arrangements. Every dog that goes into the pavilion must first pass a searching examination at the hands of a competent veterinary authority. This is to prevent danger to the dogs on exhibition.

Green and Miller Held.

MARYSVILLE, May 7.—Stuart Green and Marshall Miller were today held to answer before the superior court without bonds for the murder of Julius Pier last Thursday. The attorneys for young Green made a strenuous effort to keep out the confessions, but failed. Miller actually laughed when he heard the language of Green's confession. The effects of the confinement and the manner in which people have taken the crime have acted upon both prisoners and they look much dejected and act nervously.

Bricklayers Strike.

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—All the bricklayers and stonemasons at work for Kruxeberger & Harris on the Electric Light and Power Company at Folsom struck on Monday, and are still standing pat. It seems that they refused to work with some men sent up from here who are not in good standing with the unions.

One of a Search Party Drowned.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—While three young men were searching for Stella Hughes' body at Baker's beach this afternoon, John Higgins, one of the trio, in looking over a high bluff, lost his footing and fell into the heavy surf below. Before his companions could reach him life was extinct.

Sacramento's Coroner Dead.

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—John Miller, coroner of Sacramento county, died this afternoon. He had been a sufferer for a long time from consumption. Deceased was a native of Illinois, aged 46 years. He has been a resident of Sacramento since 1867.

CARD FROM J. M. BOYD.

He Denies the Truth of Sensational Charges.

The following card from J. M. Boyd was given out for publication yesterday:

In the Expositor of yesterday evening and in the REPUBLICAN of this morning, publicity is given to a report in regard to myself that is, of course, most unpleasant to me.

I realize that after a misunderstanding in regard to such a matter, and the publication of derogatory statements, it is hard, if possible, to eliminate from the public mind that the person accused is to blame.

The statement that I admitted any wrong intention or conduct toward Dix's child is not correct. I have been well acquainted with the family for a number of months, and the child has often called at my store, and I knew her in a friendly way and treated her familiarly, just as any person might treat a child. No one was more surprised than myself when I discovered that she had taken a notion from my actions toward her that I meant any improper familiarity, or to do anything, or commit any act that would any way shock her modesty.

As is common and natural with persons of mature years in their treatment of young children, I have often treated her with demonstrations of playfulness and affection, but I most positively state I have never, at any time, treated her in any way beyond that, or in any way improper or intentionally suggestive.

It is exceedingly unpleasant to have to make a statement of this kind, or any statement in relation to such a matter. I have lived in Fresno for a good many years, and I trust that my life and conduct has merited and received the respect of the people who know me, and that they all believe me, when I state that I never acted with better intent, or more honestly toward any one in my life than I did toward this young child; and that it is a source of far greater regret and mortification to me than any other person that any misunderstanding or misconstruction of my acts has arisen.

I make this publication feeling that the publication of the charge rendered it necessary, however unpleasant it might be to have to do so, to have my neighbors and the community understand my real position in this matter.

Respectfully, J. M. BOYD.

Mrs. James Ferris and daughter, Miss Margie, of Sacramento are visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Stephens and Dr. Maupin and family in this city.

A SERIOUS STRIKE.

Twelve Hundred Men Throw Down Their Tools.

MOSTLY POLES AND HUNGARIANS

During a Riot Which Followed Four Men Were Painfully Injured.

CHICAGO, May 7.—A serious strike occurred this morning at the Illinois Steel Company's plant. Twelve hundred men threw down their tools and walked out. The strike resulted from a demand by the furnace men for an increase of wages. The company refuses to grant the raise.

The strike closed two blast furnaces, two others were undergoing repairs and the remaining four were at once shut down until the conclusion of the strike, the company deciding that it was unwise to attempt to run until the matter was settled. This action of the company threw in all about 1350 men out of work.

The strikers were at first disposed to be orderly and peaceable, but later affairs took on an ugly aspect and it was found necessary to call the police to drive them out.

Shortly before 6 o'clock tonight a crowd numbering about 1500 men forced their way past the watchmen at one of the gates and proceeded to take possession of the company's property. They marched first to where some of the laboring men were still at work and compelled them to quit work. Not much trouble was experienced with the laborers but when the strikers entered the machine shop, where about 400 machinists are employed, they met with a different reception. The machinists have a scale of their own, and refused to quit or to allow themselves to be driven out of the yards. The strikers, who for the most part were Poles and Hungarians, made several attempts to persuade the machinists to leave their work, but finding them unsuccessful, they began an attack on the machine shop with stones and such missiles as they could find. The machinists for the most part stood their ground and gave the strikers as good as they sent.

The fight was growing warm, and broken heads and bloody noses were growing very common when the police arrived. They were under the command of Captain Jenkins, who at once made a charge on the mob with his handful of officers. The strikers at first refused to give ground and the police used their clubs freely. This did not have the desired effect, and Captain Jenkins ordered his men to draw their revolvers and fire over their heads. As soon as this was done, the mob broke and fled wildly from the premises of the company. The fight lasted only a few minutes, and there was no more rioting.

Twenty-eight men who were leaders in the attack on the works were arrested and locked up, charged with rioting. They are all Poles and Bohemians.

During the riot in the yards four men were painfully injured. Jack Shepard, a machinist, was struck on the head with a hammer and badly hurt. Edward Shaska, a striker, was badly bruised. Policeman Leinecker was hit with a coupling pin and had his head badly cut with a brick.

Will be Arrested.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 7.—Governor Morrill has returned to Topeka, but no warrant to arrest him has been sworn out. Attorneys for Warden Chase still insist, however, that the arrest will be made. Referring to the vouchers, which are causing him all this trouble, Governor Morrill said: "The employee in the office came to me and said they thought they ought to be paid for the work they did for the state prior to my inauguration. I agreed with them, and proposed to pay them out of my own pocket, as we did a vast amount of work during that time. They would not listen to my proposition to pay them, but insisted that the work was done for the state and the state should pay for it. They insisted that vouchers be made for that work, 'for extra services during the legislature.' I would not listen to that. I suppose that, if I had made out those vouchers for 'extra service,' we would not have heard of it again, but I don't propose to do business that way."

No Checks for Triplets.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The report that President Cleveland had sent $500 to a family in Decatur, Ind., on the occasion of a birth of triplets, which were named for the President's household, was pronounced to be without foundation at the White House today. Families in which triplets occur, when the President had been notified that they bear his name or the name of his family, receive a courteous letter of acknowledgment, but no checks.

France Negotiating With Japan.

PARIS, May 7.—It is stated that France is negotiating with Japan regarding the recession of Formosa and the Pescadore islands to China. France insists that in the event of Japan holding the islands, the strength of the Japanese garrisons and the number of warships will be limited.

Secretary Gresham Improving.

WASHINGTON, May 7. — Secretary Gresham is reported to be constantly gaining ground and it is said all danger is passed. It is said he will leave the city for some health resort in about ten days. The reports from his house are that he is better and hopes are entertained that he will recover.

California Team at Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 7.—The California team arrived today. Aside from the fatigue of the journey, Captain Coch stated the men were in the best of condition physically. Manager North has been looking over the eastern teams and is confident his team is equal if not superior to any of them.

THE WILLIAMS MURDER.

Evidence Which Will Assist Durrant in Proving an Alibi.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Theodore Durrant's attorneys have discovered evidence which they believe will enable them to establish an alibi for their client, so far as the Williams murder is concerned. A Market street hairdresser states that Minnie Williams, who was a regular patron, entered her shop at 8 o'clock on the evening of her disappearance. She had her hair dressed, leaving the shop at 8.25. As it is estimated that by taking a car immediately, she could not reach Emmanual church until 8.50, Durrant's counsel argue that Durrant could not thereafter have escorted her into the church, outraged and murdered her, and then walked to Dr. Vogel's where he arrived at 9.15.

Another Clerk Disappears.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Another disappearance today is that of George A. Robertson, a clerk in the firm of H. S. Crocker & Co. He obtained a day's leave of absence last Wednesday and has not been seen since. His friends aver that he was an intimate friend of Stella Hughes, who has been missing since Wednesday. Both Captain Hughes and Robertson's mother deny the acquaintance, the former believing his daughter jumped from the cliff where her cape and purse were found, and Mrs. Robertson asserting that her son will reside in Los Angeles.

The Asiatic Squadron.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The vessels of the Asiatic squadron continue to patrol Japan waters. The Baltimore has sailed from Yokohama to Nagasaki, Japan, and the Yorktown from Ching Kiang to Chie Foo.

CORNERING THE GOLD.

CONSPIRACY OF THE MORGAN-ROTHSCHILD SYNDICATE.

They Are Getting Practically the Entire Output of the United States.

CHICAGO, May 7.—A special to the Post from Washington says: The discovery is made that there is an actual basis for the report that the Morgan-Rothschild syndicate is conspiring to corner the gold market, though the story has been regarded as a foolish canard. It is a fact, however, that brokers representing the syndicate have been paying a premium for the refined gold output of the private refiners throughout the west during the last two months, and that they are accumulating fine gold at the rate of $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 per month, which represents fully two-thirds of the entire gold output of the United States. The attention of the officials of the treasury department was first attracted to the peculiar business by the sharp falling off in the deposits of gold at the mints, and inquiry very soon developed the fact that private parties were buying the products of the refineries.

Further inquiry revealed that the metal was bought and was drifting to New York, where it is being put in store to the credit of the Morgan-Rothschild syndicate. In order to divert the stream from its usual channels leading into the United States mints, the private purchasers have been obliged to pay a premium of 1½ to 1¾ cents. The premium paid for most of the gold was ¾ cent, but so anxious have been the buyers to increase their lines and get everything in sight that they have marked up their quotations during the last few days. At the present time they are getting practically the entire output of the United States, except from the extreme western coast.

Many long-headed men in Washington and Wall street who are familiar with the methods of the parties composing the syndicate, have jumped to the conclusion that the foundation is being laid for another bond deal before congress meets again. The last bond deal of $64,000,000 has been pretty well closed out, over $51,000,000 having been paid out of the $64,000,000, and it is generally believed that the entire amount will be cleaned out before the 1st day of August. Under the terms of the contract with the treasury department, the Morgan-Rothschilds syndicate has an option on any new bonds that may be issued by the government prior to October 1st next. The treasury is absolutely in their hands until that date.

The new bonds are selling today in open market at 1.21½. They cost the syndicate 1.04½, which would show a profit of 1.7 points in the operation, amounting in all to $10,540,000. It would not be fair to say the syndicate has made this much out of the bonds, but it is very safe to estimate its profits at $8,000,000. The syndicate is hurrying the completion of its present deal with the government. It deposited over $1,000,000 today, which will bring the reserve up to nearly $03,000,000. It will not have to complete these payments until the 1st of August, but the payments may be closed up within a few weeks. That will leave the syndicate a free field.

Woodward's Gardens Sold.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Woodward's gardens, for many years one of the pleasure resorts of San Francisco, are now of the past. Today the large tract of land on Mission street comprising the gardens was cut up and sold at auction for the benefit of the heirs to the Woodward estate. The land brought fair prices.

An Aluminum Angel Wanted.

San Francisco, May 7.—The new city hall commissioners have about decided to have the statue of an angel which is to surmount the tower of the new city hall made of aluminum. This metal is said to be more desirable than copper, and the commissioners want to have the angel as light and shining as possible.

China Seeks Financial Aid.

LONDON, May 8.—A dispatch from Shanghai says the Chinese Emperor has written to the Czar and President Faure asking for assistance to meet the war expenses and promising to grant important commercial advantages to Russia and France in return therefor.

CHINA BASIN LEASE

Rejected by the Valley Railroad Company.

THE CONDITIONS TOO ONEROUS

A Revolving Bridge of Handsome Design to be Built at Stockton.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The China basin lease was rejected today by the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railroad Company. In its amended form the document was held to contain conditions too onerous for acceptance and not to confirm to the spirit of the act of the legislature authorizing the lease of the water front property to a competing road. The directors appointed Messrs. Magee, Sloss, Watt and Preston to communicate this determination in writing to the Governor, the Mayor and the Board of Harbor Commissioners, who will assemble tomorrow morning to again consider the lease. There are two principal clauses to which objection is made. These require the railroad company to build the restraining wall and forbid the assignment or transfer of the lease or any interest therein.

"The lease was not accepted," said Vice President Watt, "because it imposed too onerous conditions on the San Joaquin Valley Railroad Company, and hampered it in a manner not contemplated by the legislature in the act which authorized the execution of the lease to a competing road. We did not go through the document seriatim and did not take up the clauses inserted therein by Mayor Sutro, but confined our attention to the prohibition of assignment and the obligations to build the seawall. The second of these provisions is objectionable for the reason that it would prevent the floating of bonds, which, from the present outlook, will have to be done if the road is to come to San Francisco, and for the further reason that it would prevent us from placing a mortgage, which you know would be a lien on all of the property, and might be construed as an attempt at assignment involving the forfeiture of the lease of the basin. While there is no prospect of trouble at present, it is always well to provide for the worst, and if misfortune or insolvency should overtake the company an assignment or transfer to its new owners, the shareholders would carry a road without a terminus as the lease would have expired.

Under these conditions, the people would say, of what value is a road without a terminus? The other great objection to the document as proposed is that it requires the San Joaquin Valley railroad to construct a seawall at the bequest of the harbor commission. This is unjust. We are obliged to pay wharfage, dockage and tolls the same as the Southern Pacific or any one else, but they are furnished with a seawall built at the expense of the state, while we would be compelled to build one out of our own pockets."

Director Upham said the competing road had been very fairly treated by the harbor commissioners themselves, but the Governor and Mayor had insisted on placing in the lease the conditions that were not acceptable.

At today's meeting of the board of of directors of the new road it was determined that a steel bridge should be constructed over the Mormon channel at Stockton. It will be a revolving bridge of handsome design, and will be on a center pier, with clear openings, probably seventy-five feet wide on each side. It will be located at Edison street. Builders will be asked to submit designs and figures.

INDIANS COMPLAIN.

Abused by White Settlers Who are Taking Their Lands.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Captain J. E. Bubb of the Fourth infantry, acting Indian agent at Fort Spokane, Wash., sent the following dispatch to the Indian bureau today: "Kalispel is here complaining that his people in Kalispel valley are being abused by white settlers, who are taking their lands from them and threatening their lives. He says they cannot stand it any longer, and wants me to go there. The sheriff of Stevens county has expected trouble there for some time. I do not know the present status of these Indians or whether the department wants them to retain their lands, but some one should go there. I can hardly spare the time."

At the Indian bureau it is stated that the Kallapel or Pend d'Oreille Indians have been cultivating their lands in the Panhandle of Northern Idaho for many years, and that they are peaceful and civilized. In 1887 it was thought advisable to move them to another location, and an agreement was made with them by which they were to go to the Coeur d'Alene reservation. This agreement has never been ratified by the Indians, though repeatedly brought to their attention. In the meanwhile their right to their present farms is unquestionable.

Charles Fair Contests.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The attorney for Charles L. Fair today commenced the formal contest of the will of the late James G. Fair. The document filed is a very lengthy one and asserts that the will which was found by Mrs. Cravens and which divides the vast estate between Charles Fair and his two sisters equally is the last and only true will of the ex-senator. The court is asked to deny probate to the will appointing a trust for the management of the estate and the petition alleges that Fair's mind was unduly influenced by those about him, and he was induced to make a will against his personal wishes. Mrs. Oelrichs and Miss Virginia Fair are not represented in the contest and will therefore run no risk of forfeiting their shares of the estate as provided by the will in case of a contest.

A Counterfeiter Pleads Guilty.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—In the United States district court today Dean, the counterfeiter whose case was evidently hopeless, pleaded guilty to save his wife, who, at the most, will receive only a few months.

A CLEVELANDISH IDEA.

The Tulare Register professes to be surprised that the REPUBLICAN should have advised the laboring men of Fresno to vote for sewer bonds because it would give them needed employment during the summer months. Among the alleged grounds for declaring that sort of argument reprehensible, the Register sets up the following:

The sewer extension proposition at Fresno ought to carry, if at all, solely because it is inherently advisable and not because mortgaging the credit of the community would enable one set of men to get good contracts, another to furnish materials or a third to find labor.

The statement is so manifestly true that no one is likely to dispute it. The REPUBLICAN favored the issue of bonds for sewer extension because it was the only means by which a necessary public improvement could be made. Had the improvement not been necessary or the amount asked for manifestly beyond the limit required to do the work this paper would not have advocated their issue.

It cannot be denied, however, that there are incidental benefits connected with the work of building the sewers, the most important of which is the employment it will give to men in need of work, and the circulation of the money expended for labor in the channels of local trade. The Register may see grave objections in mentioning these incidental benefits at all, but we are of the opinion that its moral philosophy in this connection is of the hair-splitting kind and hardly worthy of serious consideration.

If it be not permissible to appeal to selfish interests at all in determining questions of this kind, not many of the best of them would ever be carried, for selfish interests are always strongly arrayed against them. The REPUBLICAN'S position is that when a public journal is thoroughly and conscientiously in favor of a proposition on its merits it does not do violence to its obligations to the public by advancing any argument in favor of its cause that is justified by the facts in the case.

NOT A CANARD.

The Expositor's ideas are humorous when they are not painful. It refers, for instance, to that story of ex-Tax Collector Guard's shortage as a "canard." Now if the statement of a shortage of more than $3000 in a public officer's accounts is a canard, it is difficult to conceive of a story which would be anything else. The REPUBLICAN has felt, and feels, no inclination to injure Mr. Guard in any way, nor did partisanship affect its regret that the experts' report reflected on him so gravely. On the contrary, it was glad to know that he had a satisfactory explanation. But the story was no canard; it was, in fact, true. There was, and still is, a shortage, which will of course be made good. That it occurred through unfortunate error does not alter the fact.

Mr. Guard had four days in which to find the error and to make it right, and as he did not do so, the experts and the supervisors did but their duty in taking the steps they took. That, of course, is evident, for these officials owe a duty to the people, and in that duty is included the seeing that the people lose no money either through error or delinquency.

If the Expositor had somewhat more judgment than it possesses it would realize that nothing can be gained for Mr. Guard by denouncing an absolutely true statement as a canard.

THERE is a pathetic side to that sentence of Charles W. Ward, at Stockton, to ten years in state prison for bribery, as there is to many another criminal case; but the judge did his duty nevertheless. Ward bribed a supervisor; it was a serious offense, and he should suffer for it. And, by the way, this is not the first scandal in which Ward has been involved. There was a hospital scandal, and he was in the front of it. There was a hospital-site scandal, and he was in it. He will find his natural end in San Quentin. Ward's "partner" in this matter and the supervisor are yet free. Stockton has set a good example to the remainder of the state, as far as she has gone; she should not fall down while justice remains to be done. By the way, why has not the Supervisor who received the bribe been indicted?

MORE than a million horses have been displaced in this country by the use of electricity as a means of power. This estimate is too low rather than too high. The market for corn and oats as feed has been reduced 20,000,000 pounds a day. This causes a falling off in the amount of corn and oats transported by the railroads of 250,000 carloads annually. It is hard to tell where the displacement will stop. Electricity is being applied to mechanical uses in an ever-widening circle, and the horse is retired in consequence. If electricity displaces the draft horse, the bicycle displaces the riding and driving horse, and the outlook is that this noble animal has had its best day. The low price of horses at present is no doubt largely due to the lessened demand for them on account of their being displaced by electricity and the bicycle.

THE gold syndicate in New York is purchasing gold directly from the smelters, over-bidding the United States mints. This step, of course, is taken in order to control the gold of the country, and it is a very natural outcome of the governmental monetary policy, which, with its single standard, has made it possible for a comparatively few men to "corner" the money of the nation. Wall Street has dictated the policy, and Wall Street is preparing to take the proceeds. It is a little episode which may be expected to recur with unpleasant regularity while the nation puts the stamp of its approval on but one kind of money.

THE REPUBLICAN'S announcement that the work of construction has been commenced upon the plant for supplying this city with electric power from the San Joaquin river has already attracted considerable attention on the part of people who have money to invest in places of assured importance as industrial centers. Better times for this valley in general and for Fresno in particular are near at hand.

SAN FRANCISCO is to have an aluminum angel on its city hall, the idea being to have it as "light and shining" as possible. We rise to kindly suggest that the face of the angel be turned skyward, or that she be represented in the act of holding her nose.

JUDGING from the number of communications the REPUBLICAN is receiving equal suffrage is a burning issue.

RANDOM REMARKS.

Kansas City has a policeman with a cork leg. That's nothing; lots of cities have policemen with leather heads.

It has been discovered that counterfeit silver quarters are largely in circulation. This is a direct blow at newspaper men which should not be tolerated.

It is alleged that John D. Rockefeller has senatorial aspirations. He probably proceeds on the assumption that a public office is a standard oil trust.

An Indiana man named his triplets Frances, Ruth and Esther, and President Cleveland sent him a check for $500. It doesn't seem that the triply blessed father was overpaid, either.

Red bicycle costumes of the feminine gender, to be worn with black bloomers, have been introduced in New York city. Many and many a time have men, after eating mince pie and lobster salad, dreamed of seeing such things, but they never expected to see it—never. A scarlet woman in black satin pants! In the sweet name of the modest woman whom we admire let's insist that it she'n't be did. Black costume and red trousers would be the next easy downward step.

Mrs. Stanford pleads the statute of limitations in the suit of the government against herself. The bare statement of the fact sounds ill. The statute of limitations is a nullity, but it constitutes a defense which a person with a high sense of honor would not make. A debt is a debt, though it be a lifetime old. If the Stanford estate owes money to the government it owes it though it were contracted a generation ago. The defense may be successful, but it will not be honorable in the strictest sense of the word.

Of Lilley's "rot," O, critic mine, I never did
Grow sick or preach;
He speaks it, doubtless—write it he does not;
For tongue and pen have different properties of speech.
And the stuff that Lilley wrongly writes is wrot.—Prattled by Ambrose Bierce.

Of Bierce's "rot," O, critic sour, there's this thing may be said:
To read the stuff would make a bull, for living
or for dead,
And still, they say, when Satan wills some erring soul to pierce,
Hoarles: "Fall on your marrowbones, and read from Ambrose Bierce."

ONE MORE OPINION.

A Correspondent Writes on Women Suffrage.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—An opinion of "Toute Soule's" in the REPUBLICAN of May 4th prompts this: It can not degrade mind nor manners to turn attention to the serious matters of life. We live under conditions largely created by political measures, and it must be a mind of curious construction which regards an expression of concern in the creation of these vital measures, as a menace to "domestic felicity," or involving a "sacrifice of the respect of men."

As for the reasons why woman should not vote, there are none. But some timid souls believe if a little black were allowed, they would take the bits in their teeth and capsize the whole business. The sentiment that now discriminates against her in politics but yesterday discriminated against her in the drama, in literature, in every vocation of independence; discriminated against her in the privileges of education. The home element is counted the most wholesome influence in politics. Then why not double the ballot of that element?

To those who have fears of the increased number of votes, let them begin elsewhere to ultimate. Chinese voted in San Francisco at the last election. And, it is estimated, their vote will number 5000 in 1896. It is said their first movement was to organize under a "boss" who announced himself ready to "make arrangements" with political manipulators.

If home is the realm of woman, patriotic women are saying, "Let her have the one instrument to preserve it." And patriotic men are saying, "She shall have it."

There is a great deal said about woman's lot here being on the retiring and "patient" order, which, of course, carries the influence that her lot here-after will be something very different. Of the latter I know nothing. But, this I do know, we are here, man and woman, with interests inseparable, and to share alike the possibilities of earth as they are worked out, either in splendor or ignominy.

She will lose no womanliness, but will exemplify in her perfect development, that beauty in its highest form rests upon and grows out of intellectual and moral values, that its foundation is strength, not weakness. ALMA.

FRESNO ENTERPRISE.

It Attracts Favorable Attention Abroad.

From the Madera Tribune.

We are pleased to know that the voting population of Fresno consists of a big majority of wide-awake and enterprising people, which fact has been known in days gone by, and was again demonstrated at the recent bond election held for the purpose of voting $40,000 of bonds to complete the sewer system of that city. The people of Fresno as a rule have worked in harmony, and the result is one of the neatest, most enterprising and far-famed cities of the valley. Had the few people of this county, who hold the destiny of the voters and taxpayers in their grasp, the spirit of enterprise which exists in the progressive Fresno citizen, it would not be long ere an $80,000 court house and jail would adorn our new county and that sum of money would be in circulation at a low rate of interest, which would place the business of the county on a healthy basis since it would increase the circulating medium at the rate of $40 per each voter within the county. All kinds of building material and labor are now cheap, the crop prospect never was better and no better time could ever be selected than the present for the construction of the much needed county buildings. Individually it matters but little to us whether these buildings are ever erected or not; but from a standpoint of public benefit we deem their erection necessary at the earliest date possible.

SITE FOR A COLLEGE.

A School Under Control of the Sisters of the Holy Cross.

Sixteen lots in block 140, on the corner of Ventura and S streets in this city, have been purchased as a site for a young ladies' college, and a building will be erected there in the near future. The school will be under the management of the Sisters of the Holy Cross. These are trained teachers, and for some time past they have conducted a school on M street, next to the Catholic church. These quarters have grown too small to accommodate the pupils, and of late it has been found necessary to turn away many who sought admission.

The college, when completed, will afford ample room, and it is expected that a school will grow up there which will be an honor to Central California. The building will add to the architectural beauty of Fresno.

Race Record at 1 year old ½ mile, second heat, 1.16.

For two years holder of the world's yearling stallion record, 1 mile, 2.22.

The Trotting Stallion

ATHADON, NO. 20,990.

Standard under rules 1 and 6, foaled March 11, 1890. Will make the season of 1895 at my residence between Blackstone and Fresno avenues, one mile north of Fresno, Cal.

SPEED IS NO ACCIDENT. There is no excuse for owners of first class mares to breed them to anything but the best stallions. The get of great stallions are the only ones that will be in demand in the future per the breeder's profit. The ones that sell for high prices will be sired by the stallions that are fashionably bred, and possessing a phenomenal flight of speed. How can a horse that can't trot step a trotter?

ATHADON is a descendant of the Wilkes family, through his sire, he being a son of the great Onward 2:25¾, one of the very best sons of George Wilkes, and Onward's dam is the great brood mare, Dolly, dam of Director 2:17, Thorndale 2:22 and Czarina 2:21. ATHADON'S dam is Athalie, and she is recognized among horsemen all over the United States as one of the most royal young brood mares living or dead, being the dam of ATHADON 2:27, at 1 year old; Athavis, who showed a 2:24 gait at 1 year old; Athando, 2:09¾ at 2 years old, timed in a mile at 2:34½, and Athalie, 4 years old, last Ed Geers drove an eighth of a mile in 17 seconds, a 2:16 gait. Athando and Athavis were recently sold at better prices than any trotter ever foaled in Fresno county. ATHADON'S dam through the male line is a descendant of Strathmore. The immediate descendants of Onward and Strathmore have produced more extreme early speed than any two other trotting sires. These two fountain heads of extreme early speed unite in ATHADON, and he is the only trotting developed stallion in the world that unites the blood lines.

PEDIGREE

The Cloud Burst.

Fuller particulars of the cloud burst at Toll House show that the severity of the storm was underestimated rather than placed too high. On the western side of Burrough valley six inches of rain fell in one hour. On the other side of the valley, two miles distant, but little rain fell. It was a narrow strip, and extended into Watts valley, where the rainfall was tremendous. Large trees, standing in the gullies, were torn out by the roots and carried away. Fortunately the track of the storm was narrow, or the loss must have been very great. As it was, considerable damage was done to fences and roads. In small gullies, usually dry, the water rose ten feet.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

How Mr. Monaghan Caught "Frogs" With His Hook.

A TRIBUTE TO WOMAN'S SLEEVES

Funny Things Happen at the Postoffice—Fresno Gets Into the Procession.

Mr. Pat Monaghan, who keeps a wet-goods emporium in this home of the commission man's raisin, has invented a hook for catching frogs. It is a nice hook, with an alluring way about it which no well-bred frog can resist, and Mr. Monaghan was naturally anxious to let it catch a few amphibians and prove its prowess. So he wandered over the country a good deal to find where the creatures of an edible kind do mostly assemble, and a month or two ago he found just what he had been looking for, only a mile or two from town, and staked out his claim. The frogs were still too small to eat, and so he waited.

Almost every evening Mr. Monaghan has been in the habit of walking out to his claim and watching the frogs grow. He would watch them skipping about, and then he would smack his lips and say: "Ah-h-h-h!" He was very glad that nobody else seemed to notice his frogs.

Well, last Saturday, he took his frog-hook and a sack and Ed Faure and went out to catch the frogs, which had grown large and succulent. Mr. Faure held the sack, and Mr. Monaghan caught the frogs. They did real well, and it was only a little time until they had their sack quite full. Said Mr. Monaghan:

"Now, then, Ed, come along home. You carry the frogs, and I'll carry the hook, and when we get to town I'll give you the sockdolingest meal of fried frogs' legs that ever you et."

In the window of a restaurant in Fresno you may see a number of as large and lively toads as ever you laid your eyes on. They are the frogs that Mr. Monaghan caught, with the kindly assistance of Mr. Faure. They are not very good to eat, but they are splendid to look upon, and the hook worked first rate. They are the only kind of frogs that are found on Mr. Monaghan's claim, and of course his heart is as sore as toe mouths of the toads.

But the hook does its work very nicely, indeed.

In a very kindly way I wish to warn the Fresno ladies who are only halves. If they go away this summer and leave their husbands to the baneful joys and allurements of the Alfalfa Club they should never ask for alimony. "Forewarned is forearmed," and the ladies shall know.

There are love your bubbles cherish,
In that land Alfalfa Club;
There are games that ought to perish,
In that said Alfalfa Club;
There are trullies stowed and fried;
There is champagne on the side;
There are things you can't dobble,
In that club, club, club;
In that said Alfalfa Club,
And the beer flows like a tide
In that club,
That club;
In that very, very, very, very, very shocking club.

There are women that remain,
And the lone Alfalfa Club
Doesn't look on them with pain,
For your own Alfalfa Club
Knows its beauty when it sees,
And the members never freeze;
But the ladies all may please,
In that club, club, club,
That wal-known Alfalfa Club;
And they often raise a breeze
In that club,
That club;
In that very, very, very, very, very shocking club.

Most serious charges have been made against our townsman, J. M. Boyd, and he denies that there is truth in them. I am glad that he does so, for it gives to me the opportunity of saying that I do not believe the charges, and that I do believe his denial. I write without prejudice, for I do not know Mr. Boyd by sight even, but I know his past reputation in this community, and I base my opinion on that.

For long years this man has lived in Fresno, and here he is well known. He has established a reputation for probity, decency, uprightness and soundness. Without very complete proof I will not believe that he bartered all this for the gratification of a momentary baseness. When I do believe it I will believe further that he is insane. The man's life speaks for him; the fair life-structure that he has laboriously builded cannot rightfully be blown away by a moment's suspicion or an unsubstantiated charge. Mr. Boyd, here is one who believes that you are a man, and will so believe until (if ever) he is compelled to believe otherwise.

The alleged fact recorded in the Republican that about twenty-five Russians get their mail in one postoffice box, and that it has caused trouble, lends to the suggestion that funny things happen at the postoffice. Some time ago a woman asked of another there:

"Where's the place for packages?"

She was pointed to the large opening in which the packages are dropped, and the next her informant noticed she was stooping down with her mouth to the orifice, and was shouting:

"Hay, there! I want my package."

She was kindly but firmly led to the packet delivery window, and went away a happier if not a better woman.

But, as I was about to remark, funny things do happen at the postoffice.

I watched the young and handsome driver of the Belmont street car the other day. When there was but one lady on the car he went down the central aisle to collect fares. When there were two ladies, and they sat in seats opposite each other, he got off and walked around, or climbed along the side of the car as best he could. Why? Because he had to do so. Why did he have to do so? Well, didn't I tell you that two ladies sat opposite each other? You know the car is not very wide. Isn't that enough? Can't you understand a simple proposition?

When the Lord made woman He said: "'Tis well;"
And He flattered Himself that the job was fair;
And the feelings of Adam were hard to tell,
But he said: "She's a bummer, I do declare."
But the woman herself, she looked in a lake,
Which served as a mirror herself to scan,
And she said: "If a little of paint I take,
I think I'll improve on divinity's plan."

Then a wasp flew by, and she laced her waist,
For she said: "Oh, a wasp is a beautiful thing,
And I'm sure that the insect is quite to my taste;"
So she pattered from it—including its sting,
Then a camel passed, and she built her a hump
Of fig leaves and such, like an elf's nightmare;
And 'tis said that when Adam first looked on the humph
He said: "We may wave it by fanning and prayer."

Then she cased her in hoops that were 'steen yards wide,
For she said: "Oh, a cone is an elegant thing;"
And Adam he looked, and in agony sighed,
Saying: "Knight to this woman her senses will bring;"
But the woman she worried and said: "I know
These are but imitations—the thought it grieves—
I must wear something new, inconceivable,"
So
She thought and she thought, till she builded her sleeves.

Then the Lord looked down, and He said: "She has hit it.
In the heavens above—oh, I freely admit it—
Or in earth beneath, or the water that heaves,
There's nothing that's like to those infinite sleeves."

When eight or ten couples of young people go for a bicycle ride, and several of the young ladies are new at the business, they naturally go in single file—one street is none too wide. This is why you were astonished to see a long procession of these silent steeds wobbling off one by one toward Kearney avenue last evening. It was not because the riders were afraid of each other, but because the bicycles were. Bicycles sometimes are very reserved in their manners. It is a pleasant thing when several people that "have wheels" get together, and if they invite me again I'll go—I'll go if I have to ride on the other side of the block, so as to give some young lady room.

On that bond proposition Fresno enrolled herself among progressive towns. She did it by a small majority, but she got there just the same. Therefore, brethren, let us shake.

The Man About Town.

A MATHEMATICAL PRODIGY.

He Comes to the Front in the Expositor Office.

The Expositor last evening has this to say, among other things:

"The mathematician of the esteemed contemporary has gone daft on the returns from the sewer bond election, apparently. On Sunday morning he gravely announced that there were "nine more votes cast for the bonds than the required two-thirds," after giving the correct totals—568 for and 271 against. Of course people with any head at all for figures can see that the opponents of the bonds would have had to cast fourteen more votes to defeat the bonds, or 285, to make the total negative vote more than one-third of all the legal votes cast. The advocates of the bonds had twenty-six to go on. Thirteen more negative votes would have given the bonds just exactly the required two-thirds, and fourteen more would have given just enough to defeat them. Any pupil in the public schools above the fourth grade will be able to give the Republican's mathematician 'cards and spades' and then defeat him, if that's the way he counts."

The man who wrote that may be a better mathematician than any one in the Republican office, but his knowledge shows to an almighty poor advantage if that is the best he can do. The proposition is simple. There were 839 votes cast. In order to carry the bonds, they must receive two-thirds of these votes (let fractions be disregarded for the sake of simplifying). Two-thirds of 839 are 559. The bonds received 568 votes, or nine more than two-thirds. That is all there is of it.

If the Sir Isaac Newton of the Expositor office will not take offense, the humble mathematician of the Republican will tell Sir Isaac what tripped him. He made the total vote, in connection with the parts for and against bonds, an infinite series, increasing or decreasing with a varying ratio as he added or subtracted imaginary votes. That does make a tolerably difficult problem to be solved; but the late vote was not that sort of problem. The total vote was a fixed sum, and its third and two-thirds were fixed sums. The question is, how many more votes than this two-thirds (559) did the advocates of bonds cast? Ans. 9.

THE OLD-TIME ARRASTRE.

One of Them Now at Work Near Temperance Flat.

The San Francisco Call of yesterday had an excellent illustration of an arrastre at work at Temperance Flat, this county. Speaking of the arrastre the Call says:

"The arrastre is the poor man's mill. He can design it himself, build it himself and run it himself. Mule or horse power answers very well to operate it, though occasionally it is hitched to a waterwheel of some kind, especially where used for working tailings below a quartz mill. The best use of the appliance, however, is in opening a small mine not sufficiently developed to pay for its own mill. The miners sort out their ore and crush the last of it on the arrastre, which they keep running daily, only stopping occasionally to clean up. The arrastre is the best amalgamator known, but is slow, which possibly proves that time is rather an important element in amalgamating. Arrastres, which are of Mexican origin, are to be found in almost every camp in the country where gold ores are worked. All over this state men work their gold ore in a small way by means of these arrastres, though when a mine is developed sufficiently a mill is purchased, because of its increased capacity for ore crushing."

AT THE BARTON.

Second Night of Ethel Brandon's Engagement Here.

The curtain rose last evening at the Barton opera house to a fair-sized audience, the play presented being a melodrama entitled "The Power of Love." The performance was, on the whole, deserving of a better house. The star, Miss Ethel Brandon, had the opportunity to display the talent she possesses so abundantly. The character of Olga Garrison was entertaining. The part of Reuben Tenny, a Yankee gardener, was ably filled by Maurice Stewart, while Messrs. Durrel and Edmunds acted their parts with ability. The former was the villainous partner and mine owner, and the latter the hero and superintendent of the mine. Elsie Harriman as Helen, Olga's sister, was very good. The rest of the cast was up to standard.

The Ladies' Vienna orchestra did not prove much of an attraction, none of the members being encored. The company will play the balance of the week, a change of program being made for each evening.

AT SPINNEY HALL.

Strawberries and Ice Cream Reign Supreme.

A pleasant social was given at Spinney hall last night by Martha Lodge, D. of H., A. O. U. W. The attendance was large, and the success was deserved. The socials given by this lodge have a reputation for being enjoyable, and the one last night added to this reputation. Ice cream and strawberries reigned supreme, and all the guests were treated to a bountiful supply. Dancing and games were other features of the evening.

SAN FRANCISCO NOTES.

SOME HITCHES IN MUNICIPAL POLITICS.

The Valley Railroad and Sunset Canal—Latest Phases in the Durrant Case.

Editor Republican:—Much interest is felt in the probable beginning of work on the canal of the Sunset Irrigation district. This city is full of idle men, most of them laborers. They are waiting for a chance to work, and have been striving to find what influence would get them employment with the San Joaquin Valley railroad. Only a few are being put on now, and most of them have political pulls, which gave them the first call on places.

The dispatches from Fresno in regard to the beginning of work on the Sunset canal has inspired new hope in the hearts of the waiters. During the last few days many inquiries have been made as to where men were to be hired, and the newspaper offices have been deluged with letters asking the whereabouts of the office of the irrigation district.

Only three themes are of general interest in San Francisco today. These are: First (for the time being), politics; second, the San Joaquin road; third, the awful murders in the Emmanuel Baptist church.

The political excitement is being monopolized by the Democrats. Municipal, state and federal offices are in the balance. The appointment of the board of health by Governor Budd is keeping the local politicians and some from the outside counties on the qui vive.

The board is comprised of four physicians. They draw no salary, but they have the nominal naming of men for 184 appointments. Of these appointments, five are "star" places, the salaries being from $3000 to $5000 a year for doing practically nothing, while overworked deputies get small pay for big work.

The bosses had a plan to control all this patronage. They were to get a board appointed through the instrumentality of Dr. Marc Levingston, who in some unknown way had obtained a great deal of influence with Governor Budd. On what this influence rested there have been surmises.

Dr. Levingston as physician and friend of the Fairs, had Budd made an attorney of the great estate. He is Budd's physician. He is also his friend and knows many of the governor's friends very intimately.

Whether it is one or all of these three, no one will ever know. It is known though that all the honest Democrats and citizens in general have protested against any appointment that would give Dr. Levingston any power. He was coroner once and the stories of the treatment accorded the dead under his administration are too awful to print.

Levingston knew the Civic Federation and Good Government clubs were going to protest against his friends being put in. So on Saturday, a week past, he is said to have urged the governor to appoint his friends out of hand though Mr. Budd had repeatedly stated that he was going to give the citizens ten days in which to argue the matter.

The governor refused to accede to this. As a result the board of health has not yet been appointed, as the Call and the Examiner have boldly exposed the record of Mr. Levingston in no measured terms. Such matter coming to the ears of the governor has made him hesitate.

In consequence those politicians who were eager to show their talents have besieged the governor to ask him who he was going to appoint. There are hundreds who want places and now have hopes of getting them, since any men Dr. Livingston might produce would be considered as not safe.

John Daggett has started the federal trouble. Though a Democrat, he was not "in touch" with the actions taken to resent his personal interest in the prisoners at the bar.

In the last few days he has discharged relatives of two state senators, Fay and Gesford, who would not cast their votes for Mr. Daggett for United States senator.

Wires and letters went on to Washington, but nothing has been heard of them. It was an odd fact that Senators Fay and Gesford had no other crime than that of not voting for Mr. Daggett. Then, too, Senator White refused to assist in straightening out the tangle, though Mr. Daggett had openly proclaimed war against both Mr. White and Representative Maguire during the early part of his administration. Senator Maguire does not hesitate to denounce Mr. Daggett.

The history of the San Joaquin Valley railroad is filling the papers. Fresno is recognized as one place the road must pass through. Considerable disappointment is being expressed by people who know nothing of the state of raisins for the past two years.

They expected the people of Fresno to do more than talk. If the people were as flush as they were five years ago, a big bonus would be up before 5 o'clock.

The Durrant case is bringing forward the usual number of rough jokes. For instance, the owner of a string of running horses at the Bay District track calls the best one of them "Durrant," because he's the champion steeple-chaser of the state.

Then, too, the wise ones are going around saying: "By the way, Sademan, the sexton of the church, has told something. Have you heard about it?"

The victim always says "no," and asks anxiously what has been told. The answer given is: "Why, he tolled the bell."

Among the attractions soon to appear in Fresno is Mlle. Isidora Martinez, a remarkable prima donna, whose prominence in the musical world insures a rare treat to music lovers. Powers.

San Francisco, May 6th.

THE BONDS ARE LEGAL.

A Rumor With a Foundation Frail and Slender.

A report by some means gained circulation yesterday that the new sewer bonds are illegal on account of an irregularity in the ordinances governing them.

The City Attorney was seen yesterday, and he stated that a preliminary ordinance of the old board declaring the necessity of the completion of the sewer system, called for bonds bearing 5 per cent interest payable annually. The board afterwards learned that the bonds would be more salable if the interest were paid semi-annually. Accordingly in the call for the election the interest of the bonds was made payable semi-annually.

Mr. Moultrie stated that this conflict of ordinances was of no importance so far as the legality of the proceeding was concerned. In his opinion the bond proposition is safe.

ROUTED THE BOARD.

THE SUPERVISORS ARE PUT TO FLIGHT.

Mrs. Unity Foy Takes Possession of the Supervisoral Chamber and Orates.

Yesterday was an off-day with the Board of Supervisors, and it was perhaps in consequence of this that an incident occurred, quite out of keeping with the usual dry discussions of this body.

The incident varied the proceedings of the afternoon's session and was brought about in this way. Mrs. Unity Foy of this city appeared before the board and complained that a tenant of hers, who is receiving county relief, had not paid her rent. Mrs. Foy is reported to be worth $40,000, and the board listened for a while with respectful attention. Encouraged by this Mrs. Unity Foy beamed with smiles, and bestowed several specially fascinating glances on Mr. Letcher. The venerable ex-chairman of the board shook off the load of years as lightly as Mrs. Foy did and the conversation grew animated and discursive. Chairman Wickersham was in the very act of giving vent to one of his pet Mephistophelian smiles when Mrs. Foy's eyes lighted on him. She promptly brought her batteries to play on the new repentant "Wick" and Letcher was snuffed out.

Then Garrett was imprudent enough to be caught smiling, and Mrs. Foy bestowed a number of smiles upon him. Rose came in for his turn, and the lady finally cast an irresistibly captivating glance at the benevolent countenance of Mr. Sayre. When Mrs. Foy was not smiling she was talking, and there appeared a reasonable probability that the lady had at least two hours of timely topics in reserve.

Chairman Wickersham just about this time noticed that Dr. Davidson had come in, and knowing that gentleman's chivalrous nature, he promptly created a diversion by telling Mrs. Foy what a nice gentleman the Doctor was. Mrs. Foy went over and took a seat beside Dr. Davidson, whose aspect changed to that of one complacently accepting the will of heaven. In the meantime Chairman Wickersham went out, Letcher went out, Sayre escaped by the side door and Rose followed suit, while Garratt suddenly recollected that he had a particular matter to discuss in executive session with Wick at that very moment. And so Mrs. Foy was left alone with Dr. Davidson, while the supervisors gathered in the executive chamber and waited to see how long the lady would hold the fort.

Those of them who peered through the half open door agreed in describing the aspect of Dr. Davidson's face as that of a hypnotized subject, or a saint in an ecstatic condition as portrayed by the old masters. At last Wickersham mustered up courage to go into the room and Dr. Davidson instantly made a skip for the executive chamber, leaving Wickersham to his fate. Finally Wickersham hurried out, with a ghastly pallor on his face, and reported that Mrs. Foy had gone. She had routed the board, "horse, foot and dragoons," and the rest of the session was tame and uneventful by comparison.

Howard A. Harris resigned office as justice of the peace for the Fourth Judicial township. J. D. Galloway of Oleander, who was indorsed by prominent parties, was unanimously appointed to the position.

The application of Tax Collector N. W. Moodey for an additional assistant to aid in compiling the delinquent list at $80 a month was granted by a unanimous vote.

Coroner Long reported five inquests during the past month, and County Physician Davidson reported ninety-three patients in the county hospital. Four deaths had occurred in the institution during the month, twenty-seven new cases had been admitted, and sixteen discharged.

COLONEL NUNAN HERE.

Captain George W. Jones Passes a Creditable Examination.

Colonel J. J. Nunan is down from Stockton. He is here on business connected with the militia. The Colonel is of the opinion that neither of the Fresno military companies will be disbanded, which has been reported as a probability. There is some talk of having one of the companies changed to a cavalry company.

Colonel Nunan and Lieutenant S. S. Wright of this city last evening examined George W. Jones as to his qualifications for the captaincy of company F, to which office he was elected by the company some time ago. Mr. Jones had not been sworn in, however. He passed a highly creditable examination.

MISS BRANDON'S DRESSES.

She is One of the Best Dressed Actresses on the Stage.

Ethel Brandon wears some beautiful dresses in "East Lynne." All the ladies should see them. In the first act she wears a traveling dress of pink crepe trimmed with garnet velvet and jet ornaments; also a beautiful hat, all of which were made expressly for this production of "East Lynne." Her tea gown is of brown plush, with a front of Waltean brocade. Over the sleeves are large flounces of blue schiffon and bunches of brown feathers. The cuffs are studded with Mexican cat-eyes. The evening dress of pink moree and green velvet covered with silk brocade flowers, is one of the most beautiful ever seen on the stage. Miss Brandon has long been acknowledged as one of the best dressers on the stage. She is correct in the smallest detail. The San Francisco Chronicle speaking of the best dressed woman on the stage mentioned Miss Brandon as one of the foremost. Ladies would do well to see the exquisite dresses Miss Brandon will wear during her engagement here.

The Whist Club.

The North Side Whist Club was entertained last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. White by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bedford. The first prize was won by Mrs. J. E. Brown with a score of 55, and J. W. Short was an easy winner of the booby prize.

The last meeting of the club for the season will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Markham, when the prize for the best score made during the season will be awarded.

The ladies of the club have accepted the invitation of the South Side Club to meet with them next Friday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Guard.

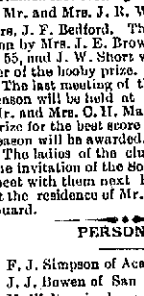
HEART DISEASE, like many other ailments when they have taken hold of the system, never gets better of its own accord, but Constantly grows worse. There are thousands who know they have a defective heart, but will not admit the fact. They don't want their friends to worry, and don't know what to take for it, as they have been told time and again that heart disease was incurable. Such was the case of Mr. Silas Farley of Dyesville, Ohio who writes June 10, 1894, as follows:

"I had heart disease for 23 years, my heart hurting me almost continually. The first 15 years I doctored all the time, trying several physicians and remedies, until my last doctor told me it was only a question of time as I could not be cured. I gradually grew worse, very weak, and completely discouraged, until I lived, propped half up in bed, because I couldn't lie down nor sit up. Thinking my time had come I told my family what I wanted done when I was gone. But on the first day of March on the recommendation of Mrs. Fannie Jones, of Anderson, Ind., I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart and wonderful to tell, in ten days I was working at light work and on March 19 commenced framing a barn, which is heavy work, and I have not lost a day since. I am 56 years old, 6 ft. 4½ inches and weigh 230lbs. I believe I am fully cured, and I am now only anxious that everyone shall know of your wonderful remedies."



Dyesville, Ohio. SILAS FARLEY.

Dr. Miles Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1. 6 bottles for $5 or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

TEMPERANCE LECTURES.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Begin the Series in Fresno.

Major Scott spoke last evening at the Presbyterian church to a large audience. He handled the temperance question in an able and entertaining manner. His speeches are calculated to impart information, not to arouse sentiment only. He is well posted on the laws in the several states for the regulation of the liquor traffic, and with statistics of use and abuse, and he weaves these facts into entertaining argument.

Major and Mrs. Scott will speak this evening at the K street church. The illustrations used in these lectures are new and entertaining.

A Horse Killed.

There was a runaway yesterday on Tulare street, by which one of the horses attached to a sprinkling wagon was killed. The driver was filling the tank near the corner of M and Tulare, when the horses started on a run. They had not gone more than seventy-five yards when they struck a telephone pole with such violence that one of the horses was killed.
